Based on analysis of more than 30,000 companies and their job posting activity during last year, World Travel Holdings ranked #30 among the top 100 companies to watch for remote job opportunities in 2015

Wilmington, Mass. (January 29, 2015) – World Travel Holdings, the world's largest cruise agency and award-winning leisure travel company is proud to announce that it has been named to FlexJobs' annual list of the top 100 companies to watch for telecommuting and remote jobs in 2015. FlexJobs, a job service specializing in remote and flexible job opportunities, analyzed their database of more than 30,000 companies' job posting history from the prior year determine which companies would be most likely to incorporate telecommuting jobs into their hiring practices in 2015.

"We place a strong value on creating an environment where our employees can work from home, which has been instrumental in us being able to hire and retain top talent. We couldn't be more proud to be recognized by FlexJobs as a leader for our remote work efforts," said Debbie Fiorino, senior vice president of Human Resources for World Travel Holdings. "With more than 70 percent of our employee community working from home full time, including 95 percent of our travel agents, we have proven that we can drive results while providing flexible, telecommuting opportunities to our employees."

World Travel Holdings hires for jobs with telecommuting options such as Travel Professional, Customer Care Representative and Business Development Manager and has been recognized as a leader in the industry in virtually recruiting, hiring and training more than 300 employees annually.

"The positive impact remote work options can have on a company's bottom line and culture is increasingly being acknowledged by smart employers. Organizations such as World Travel Holdings are among those leading the charge to show that remote work options are a part of successful 21st century workplaces," says Sara Sutton Fell, founder and CEO of FlexJobs. "The Top 100 Companies to Watch for Remote Jobs in 2015 is also intended to guide job-seekers in their quest to find legitimate work with trusted companies that have a successful track record recruiting and hiring telecommuters."
